INTERESTING MEETINGS ARE HELD DURING PRESENT WEEK.

Several successful meetings have been held in various parts of the county during the present week. On Tuesday evening the Jersey cattle breeders of the county held their monthly meeting at the city Y. M. C. A. and the County Farm Bureau put on a five-reel moving picture, "Hearts and Jerseys." This same picture was presented at the Stony Creek hall the evening of the 22nd, at the Cavanaugh Lake Grange the 23rd and will be pre-Grange the 23rd and William on the sented at the Fritz school on the mino Miller Avenue road Friday evening, him.

SOME FISH STORY.

The St. Petersburg Times publishes a fish story in which our friend, Drain Commission Deaks, figures as the champion fisherman, carrying off the honors of landing a 30-pound grouper. The party that Mr. Deake fished with landed 950 pounds of fish. As the story comes from Florida, where they say fishing is good, and George Renton says it is possible, we are of the opinion that it is a true fish story, but after fishing in the lakes of Washtenaw county we can't help but being skeptical.

The management for the sheep's back at very attractive prices.

It is likely that wool will again be assembled in Washtenaw county this year. A tentative schedule of assembling dates has been arranged for the first week in May. It is possible that buyers' prices may advance by that date. Last season Washtenaw county farmers pooled about 140,000 pounds of wool. Fiftper cent of the price of the wool was advanced at the time it was assembled. According to Farm Bureau officials, final returns will be made during April.

The management for hte 1922 poor The management for hie 1922 poor has been changed and will be in charge of Don Williams. Wool will be assembled and graded similar to last season and an advance of 40 per cent made at the date of grading. This season it will not be stored in the local warehouses but shipped directly to a central warehouse after. directly to a central warehouse after it has been graded. Government re-ports show that there is a shortage of the better grades of wool, and although the market is not excep-tionally strong for woolen goods, the demand is firm, so that good rices ought to be received this seaon, and many wool growers anticiate a substantial advance in price rom what is now being offered by ocal wool buyers.

Since there would be no passenger train until afternoon, Beasley and I "Now you're talkin' a whole heap resumed our places in the freight's ish one. "Dog-goned if I don't b'lieve down in Brewster, the breezy little metropolis of Timanyoni Park.

Here my captor-and friend-ap peared to be very much at home. He took me to the best hotel, where he was greeted with affectionate camaraderie by a clerk who wore a diamend big enough to serve for a locomotive headlight, shook hands with, and introduced me to, a number of gentlemen in the lobby, and presently gave me orders to go up to our rooms and "take a wash," preparatory to meeting a certain friend of his at luncheon; the meeting contingent upon his being able to "round up" the friend in time for the feast.

It still wanted a half-hour of the appointed luncheon time when I descended to the lobby. A little before one o'clock Beasley came in with a middle-aged man who looked as if he might have been the retired manager of a Wild West show; not long-haired, or anything like that, but with the cool eye and bronzed, weather-beaten face of one who lived under house roofs only when circumstances forced him to. A mement later I was shaking hands with Mr. William Starbuck, mine owner, ranchman, a director in the Brewster National bank, president of the Brewster Commercial club and the prime mover in a lot of other civic activities too numerous to mention.

I may pass lightly over the events of the three days following; days in which Mr. William Starbuck, who seemed to be known to all the oldtimers in Brewster as "Billy," and to the younger generation as "Uncle Billy," labored untiringly in my behalf; procured me the necessary working credit at the Brewster National, and last, but not least, made my peace "Kill two 'r three birds with the one with the railroad company in the matrock," he mumbled, cramming the ter of the stolen and smashed inspecsiruped half of his breakfast-finishing tion car; this being a thing which he corn cake into his capacious mouth. was easily able to do because he was "I'll chase you down to Angels and the brother-in-law, once removed, of turn you over to the majesty o' the the railroad company's vice president

TAK COMMISSION CONDUCT-ING CAMPAIGN OVER THE STATE.

Armouncement is made from the fice of the tax commission at Lan-ing that the campaign being condirected by that department to cause the payment of the specific tax on hand contracts is bearing much fruit nd that the efforts to uncover this cass of property are being so increased that when the campaign is closed it is expected there will be practically no land contracts in the state upon which the tax has not been paid.

Not only has the revenue been less than under the general tax law, but there has been no greater willingthere has been no greater willingness to pay the tax. Because it is necessary to record every mortgage promptly in order to protect the title to real estate, the tax on mortgages has been paid almost without exception, but with land contracts the result has been far different. It is very seldom a land contract has been recorded and consequently no tax has been paid and owners of this class of credit have evaded the tax even more successfully than under the old law. Until 1921 the law did not clearly provide that contracts could be assessed under the general tax law unless the specific tax was paid, but as amended by act No. 213 there is a way of question but that it is the duty of the assessing officer of assess overy contract which has not paid the specific tax.

IF THAT NAIL HAD BUT HELD!

The lax commission at the present time is using almost its entire force in investigating this class of property and before the close of the campaign every portion of the state will have been visited. The commission will not only have its own examiners engaged in this work, but will have been visited. The commission will not only have its own examiners engaged in this work, but will be subject to the provisions of the general tax law which provides for an amount tax the rate of which ranges from two per cent to six per cent, depending upon the locality in which the owner resides.

ACTION OF WATER ON FIRE

Just What Takes Place When the Liquid is Employed for Quenching Flames.

Practically, water thrown on a fire drowns out the blaze. Scientifically, however, the water absorbs so much of the heat in the fire that the temperature of the fire is lowered so that the oxygen will not combine with the carbon in the burning material and the fire goes out.

It is peculiar that water, which is made of oxygen and hydrogen, will put out a fire which requires hydrogen and oxygen before it will burn. This is true, however, as the oxygen and hydrogen composing the water already have been burned or heated to a high temperature when they combined as water, and so, as no substance or gas that has been burned once can be burned again, the combination of the two gases in the form of water will not burn when thrown on the fire.

To the contrary, the heat of the burning fire is lowered by the water so that the oxygen of the air cannot combine with it and, lacking the exygen, the fire is extinguished --Philadelphia Leager.

"By Hook or by Crook."

"By hook or by crook," an expression denoting that a person is determined to accomplish a certain thing, no matter how, was first used in Ireland in 1172. At that time, Stron; bow, the great warrior, invaded Ireland and swore he would take it "by hook or crook," meaning two towns of great importance in those days near the port of Waterford.

Some authorities, however, claim that Strongbow was using a punning allusion. Ancient forest rights in England and Ireland allowed the poor to carry away dead or damaged wood for fuel. The people were not permitted to use an ax or a saw but were supposed to pick up the loose branches scattered about. The customary method of removal was to use hooked poles or "crooks" with which the dead branches could be pulled down and

In the old English records this privllege of the poor is called "a right with hook and crook to lop, crop and carry away fuel."

"Running the Gauntlet."

The custom of punishing a culprit by forcing him to "run the gauntlet" practiced in the Seventeenth century, s said to have originated during the Thirty Years' war" (1618-48) and to have been adopted by European armies as a mode of punishment. The culprit was stripped to the waist and then obliged to run repeatedly between two lines of soldiers facing one another, each of whom struck at him with a short stick or switch. The word 'gantlet," as here used, has not the meaning usually given it—that of an iron glove-but is simply a corruption of gantlope or gatlope, and is derived from the Swedish gatlop, meaning "running down a lane." Some etymologists, however, derive the word from the German gassenlaufen, which means 'running the lane," and others from the Dutch gangloopen, having the same meaning.

Old Sol is the real freckle dispenser. His rays, on their way to earth, fall alike on the just and the unjust and so the just and the unjust have freckles; that is, those who have skins built for freckles-generally persons of fair complexion and hair. Some people never have freckles because their skin is not the same as that of the freckled ones.

The action of the sun on the skin of persons of light complexion causes a yellowish or brownish substance to exude from the second layer of skir and forms freckles. THE ECONOMY OF LIVING IN YPSILANTI

It has long been said of Ypsilanti that considering its advantages, it is an economical city in which to live. Judged by the price of staple foods it seems to be sustaining its reputation. For example: CLASS A MILK, such as is produced by HATCH HERD, retails in Detroit for 25c a quart. We are paying in the west for milk at least no better 25c per quart in quart bottles, and 30c in pint bottles.

In Ypsilanti our CLASS A MILK is delivered direct for 12 CENTS A QUART, or 6 CENTS A PINT-a saving in living expenses on the one indispensable three-times-a-day, perfect food, containing all the Vitamines, of MORE THAN 50 PER CENT over Detroit and western prices.

Ypsilanti's New Charter

TO THE ELECTORS OF YPSILANTI:

The proposed Charter for the City of Ypsilanti, as prepared by the Charter Commission elected in April, 1921, will be submitted for your approval at the city election on Monday, April 3rd.

Copies of the Charter are now being distributed to every residence in the city. The essential features of the Charter are as follows:

- 1. The Commission-Manager form of government is substituted for the Mayor-Council plan now in operation.
- 2. The City Commission is to consist of five Commissioners, chosen for three years, and who are to serve without pay. This Commission is to have general oversight of the affairs of the city.
- 3. A Mayor is to be chosen by a majority vote of the Commission from among its own members, and is to hold office for one year. The Mayor is to be president of the City Commission and the official representative of the city.
- 4. A City Manager is to be chosen by the City Commission, solely on the basis of ability and without respect to his politics, and can be removed from office only after a public hearing. The Manager is to be directly responsible for the efficient management of the city's affairs.
- 5. All elective officers are to be nominated by petition, thus doing away with the expense of primary elections.
- 6. All ward boundaries are to be abolished. The elective officers are to be chosen at large by the people of the whole city, thus doing away with ward politics.

C. O. HOYT, GUY DAVIS, EMMA GARDNER, ALEX. NULAN, DeEOREST ROSS,

- 7. In the election of officers opportunity is given for both first and second choice. This practically assures that those entrusted with the affairs of the city shall be the choice of a majority of all the voters
- 8. Provision is made for increasing the number of supervisors from two to four, thus giving the city a greater voice in county
- 9. The City Commission is given full power to regulate all matters pertaining to public health, safety and welfare. This fixes responsibility and makes speedy action possible.

10. Nine voting precincts are provided to comply with the present State law.

11. The initiative and referendum are provided for under regulations that assure their efficiency and that make their misuse difficult.

12. Provision is made for giving publicity to all ordinances (excepting emergency measures) before they become effective and allowing opportunity for protest.

13. All franchises are to be referred to the people before they become binding. 14. Checks and counter checks make the misuse of city funds practically impossible. 15. Equal political rights both as regards voting and office holding, are accorded to men and women alike.
